

SUMMER STUDENT SCHOLAR PROGRAM

at the University of Massachusetts Amherst and Baystate Medical Center

<http://www.baystatehealth.com/cbr/SummerScholar.html>

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

Baystate Medical Center, the Western Campus of Tufts University School of Medicine, and UMass Amherst offer a mentored research program for rising UMass-Amherst seniors and a mentored clinical research program for local pre-med and medical students (between their first and second years) who are interested in exploring the potential of a career in medical field. The 10-week summer program offers you the opportunity to participate in a research project from start to finish and present project outcomes to the scientific community. Formal classroom training and personalized application in research design, implementation, and publication make this summer experience an outstanding opportunity for any undergraduate student or first-year medical student considering a career in biomedical research.

WHAT TO EXPECT

As a Summer Student Scholar, you participate in the conduct of medical research that is part of a larger project. Your experience is designed for you and under the direct mentorship of a full-time faculty member of Tufts University School of Medicine or the UMass Amherst. Under your mentor's guidance you deliver two oral presentations: your project's hypothesis and specific aims at the end of the first week of the program, and your research results at the program's conclusion. Presentations are held before the Baystate Medical Center and UMass Amherst scientific communities.

In addition to your hands-on research experience, you participate in lectures on the basics of research and seminars where practicing investigators share their own research experiences. You may elect to attend the many scientific lectures and clinical conferences offered throughout Baystate Medical Center and UMass Amherst.
